DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the embodiment with more than one magnet and the kit or set of the devices must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1 is directed to a method for magnetically holding a fastener, however there are no method steps listed. Applicant must also positively recite the structure of the device. The phrase "for example, the head of a bolt or its nut" must be replaced with an appropriate recitation of the features.

Claim 2 is directed to a kit or set consisting of a plurality of devices as described in claim 1, this lacks antecedent basis as no "plurality of devices" are claimed in claim 1.

Applicant's claims are generally narrative in form and replete with indefinite and functional or operational language. The structure which goes to make up the device must be clearly and positively specified. The structure must be organized and correlated in such a manner as to present a complete operative device. The claim(s) must be in one sentence form only. Note the format of the claims in the patent(s) cited.

4. The following claim drafted by the examiner and considered to distinguish patentably over the art of record in this application, is presented to applicant for consideration:

Art Unit: 3726

--A method for magnetically holding, without human support beyond initial placement, one part of a two-part threaded fastener while the fastener is being installed on or removed from a ferrous structure with a hole, the fastener including a bolt with a head and a corresponding nut, the method comprising:

providing a device consisting of a metal disk or plate, one or more permanent magnets attached to the metal disk or plate, the metal disk or plate having a recess sized and shaped to mate with the head or the nut of the fastener to be held, wherein the head or nut of the fastener snugly fits in the recess and is prevented from rotating therein;

inserting the bolt into the hole of the ferrous structure;

placing the device over the head of the bolt so that the head of the bolt is accommodated in the recess, the device being magnetically held to the ferrous structure; and attaching the nut to the bolt while the bolt is being held in the recess of the device, wherein the shape of the recess prevents the bolt from rotating while the nut is being tightened on the bolt.--

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
